OSTEOPATHS TO BE HEARD.

Proposed Bill Will Be Aired Before the Commissioners.

Monday at 10 o'clock has been fixed by the Commissioners when the homoeopathy, allopathy, and the osteopaths will discuss the bill.

The old board of Commissioners approved the bill in its present form, but as a matter of courtesy, it was sent back from Congress to the new board of Commissioners to have their views.

Dr. John D. Thomas, chairman of the committee on public policy of the District Medical Association, has written the Commissioners to take no steps until members of the medical schools of homoeopathy and allopathy can have the opportunity to tell the Commissioners what they think of the proposed legislation.

Dr. Wilbur L. Smith, chairman of the legislative committee of the osteopathic association, has asked the Commissioners to grant the hearing as early as possible.

WOMAN HEADS STATE SOCIETY.

Mrs. George W. Hall Elected President of Maine Association.

At a recent meeting of the Maine Association the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. George W. Hall; vice presidents, E. W. Bradford, Pitman Pulister, and Mrs. O. H. Briggs; recording secretary, Miss Almada Love; corresponding secretary, Miss Rosa Jones, and treasurer, William C. Rich.

The Maine Association is the oldest State society in Washington, having organized under very favorable auspices fifteen years ago. During its flourishing existence it has received the steady and loyal support of its large membership.

GIRL ATHLETES GIVE DRILL.

Exhibition of the Young Women's Christian Association Held.

Four hundred of their friends assembled at the Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday night to witness the midwinter exhibition of the gymnasium and military classes of the Young Women's Christian Association. Sixty-two young women and children took part, under the direction of Miss Ruth Swen.

The first number on the programme was a Danish greeting, by the following pupils of the children's class: Misses Shea, Corrine Hutterly, Evelyn Smith, Virginia Moran, Grace Kelly, Olive Taylor, and Ida Zirklin. Later in the evening the class gave a ring drill.

Members of the Tuesday-Friday class made their first appearance in a drill embracing military tactics, and their precision and alignment was excellent. Those taking part from that class were Misses Barr, McKeever, Nordamon, Gartrell, Bartholow, Elger, Adams, Wilson, Earman, Olive Love, Rebecca Love, and Mrs. Campbell.
